Provenances of Early Printed Books from the Library of the Berdychiv Monastery of Discalced Carmelites

Abstract

The publication presents a source study review of the provenances of the early printed books from the library of the Berdychiv Monastery of Discalced Carmelites, which functioned from the 17th up to the first half of the 19th century. Nowadays the historical collection “The Library of the Berdychiv Monastery of Discalced Carmelites” is preserved in the V.I. Vernadsky National Library of Ukraine, it amounts to 4852 volumes and is the largest one among the book collections of the Roman Catholic monasteries, which are stored in the libraries in Ukraine. The article emphasizes the importance of source studies and the role of provenances in the historical library science research. The main types of provenances (handwritten notes, exlibris, superexlibris, seals), found in the books of the Berdychiv collection are presented, and their informative content is highlighted in relation to the ways of reconstruction of the monastic book collection.

Key words: provenances – exlibris – superexlibris – Berdychiv Monastery of Discalced Carmelites – monastic libraries.

The books coming from former monastic libraries are a very important source for studies on the organization and activity of these libraries in the past. Provenance records, exlibrises, superexlibrises, seals and marginalia preserved in early printed books offer valuable information about methods of collecting books – purchases and book donations for monasteries, realized by (among others) the authors and patrons of the convents. They also include biographical data of the monks and illustrate a relation between a monk and a book. Therefore they are extremely valuable material for researchers of old book culture, particularly in regard to dissemination, circulation, and reading of detailed works, as well as book patronage. Provenance material reflects also a history of monastic libraries, as well as the monasteries themselves.

Issues and methods of provenance studies on book collections at the territory of former Republic of Poland were discussed by many Polish researchers, among others Barbara Bieńkowska, Maria Cubrzyńska-Leonarczyk, Aloisia Kawecka-Gryczowa, Bronisław Kocowski, Józef Adam Kosiński, Maria Pidłypczak-Majerowicz, Kazimierz Piekarski, Maria Sipayło, Maria Strutyńska, Arkadiusz Wagner¹, as well as the Ukrainians, like: Natalia Bondar, Ludmiła Denysko, Iryna Kachur². fers to provenances from the library of the Berdychiv Monastery of Discalced Carmelites, currently maintained in the Department of Historical Collections (DHC) of the Vernadsky National Library of Ukraine (VNLU).

The Berdychiv Monastery of Discalced Carmelites, called the Fortress of the Blessed Virgin Mary, was founded in 1960 by the Kyiv regional governor Janusz Tyszkiewicz (died 1649). Together with the church of the Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary, Saint Archangel Michael, Saint John the Baptist, and Saint John the Evangelist, the monastery belonged to the Kyiv diocese, later Lutsk-Zhytomir diocese, and the Polish province of Discalced Carmelites of the Holy Spirit. After the 3rd partition of Poland, together with Carmelite monasteries in Wiśniowiec, Kamieniec Podolski and Kupin, it belonged to the Ruthenian province of the Holy Spirit.

A few studies discuss broadly the history of the library of the Berdychiv Monastery, it is also hardly mentioned in printed sources. Franciszek Radziszewski in his work Wiadomość historyczno-statystyczna o znakomitszych bibliotekach i archiwach... [Historical and statistical information about excellent libraries and archives...] (Kraków 1875) characterizes it in one sentence only: “The library of the former Carmelites monastery, quite numerous”³. Another short information about this library was given by father Benignus Józef Wanat in the monograph Klasztor karmelitów bosych w Berdyczowie na Ukrainie... [The Monastery of Discalced Carmelites in Berdychiv, Ukraine] (Kraków 2007)⁴:

Edward Chwalewik stated, that after the monastery secularisation in 1870 Tsarist authorities took part of the Berdychiv Discalced Carmelites Monastery library, amounting to 6508 volumes, to the Library of the National Pedagogical Dragomerov [sic!] Institute in Kyiv, which currently can be found in the «Collection» of the Shevchenko National University⁵.

Factual mistakes in this citation require corrections. The secularisation of the Berdychiv monastery took place not in 1870, but in 1866⁶. Its collection was moved to Kyiv in October 1878, to the Library of the Saint Vladimir Royal University, not to the Library of the National Pedagogical Dragomanov Institute, which was established just in 1926⁷.

Earlier, in her work published in Kyiv in 1988, concerning book collections of the VNLU (that time the library was named the Central Scientific Library of the USSR Academy of Sciences), the Ukrainian researcher Eugenia Kolesnyk characterized briefly the Carmelites library, according to the historical and political narration binding of the Soviet state⁸. On the other hand M. Pidłypczak-Majerowicz in her book Biblioteki i bibliotekarstwo zakonne na wschodnich ziemiach Rzeczypospolitej w XVII-XVIII wieku [Monastic libraries and librarianship at eastern territories of Poland in the 17th and 18th centuries] (Wrocław 1996) concerning organization and functioning of monastic libraries mentions the Discalced Carmelites printing house in Berdychiv in regard of typographic activity of Catholic monasteries on Belarussian and Ukrainian territories. The author also mentions one book from the Berdychiv collection – edition of Seneka works Opera philosophica (Wenecja 1492)⁹, whereas Urszula Paszkiewicz in her documentary work Cathalogus cathalogorum... (Warszawa 2015) informed about a manuscript catalogue of 1781, and listed documents of general visitation of the monastery of the years 1802 and 1822¹⁰. I. Ciborowska-Rymarowicz referred to this catalogue, publishing in 2017 the article Polonika w księgozbiorze klasztornym karmelitów bosych w Berdyczowie (na podstawie katalogu z 1781 r.)...¹¹ [Polonica in the library of the Berdichyv Monastery of Discalced Carmelites (based on the catalogue of 1781)…].

The Berdychiv library is the largest collection among those of Catholic monasteries preserved in Ukraine. Such a conclusion comes from the studies and explorations realized by the author of the hitherto article in collections of the largest Ukrainian libraries, as well as historical and book studies analysis of publications concerning the history of monastery libraries in Ukraine. The collection maintained in the DHC VNU amounts to 4852 volumes. A small part of early printed books from Berdychiv belongs to the Department of Early Printed and Rare Books (DEP) VNU, in the sets of incunabula, paleotypes, Elzevir prints, Latin font prints from the second half of the 16th century to the first quarter of the 19th century.

The library of the Berdychiv monastery was collected through book purchases, gifts, testamentary donations of deceased monks, and completed with prints from the monastery publishing. Main source of information concerning acquisition are provenances, i.e. notes proving belongingness of a copy to the Berdychiv collection. All notes are in Latin. Mostly they take a form of “Conventus Berdiczoviensis Carmelitarum Discalceatorum” inscription, rarely as “Pro Biblioteka Conventus Berdiczoviensis Carmelitarum Discalceatorum” and “Collegii Conventus Berdiczoviensis Carmelitarum Discalceatorum”. The entry “Pro Apothekae” can be found on charts of several medical works, which indicates the existence of a subcollection of special purposes, stored apart from the core collection. This is the only provenance entry of that kind. Paper stickers with signature on books spines also confirm that they were the property of the monastery library: Latin letter indicated section, and Arabic cipher – book number in this section. Books from the Carmelites collection are also signed with exlibris, superexlibris, and seals as provenances.

A part of provenance entries indicates clearly that these books were previously maintained in other monastic units, i.e. in the Discalced Carmelites monasteries in Wiśniowiec, Kupin, Lviv, Przemyśl, Warsaw, Głebokie (Dzisna county in Vilnius Governorate), residents of this convent in Narodycze (Owrućz county in Wołyń Governorate), as well as the Jesuits' colleges in Lublin and München, the Jesuits' residence in Romanów (Nowogród-Wołyń county in Wołyń Governorate). They were transferred to Berdychiv probably in exchange or transmission of needed books from other monasteries after 1832.

Another method of development of monastery collections was donations, often by secular persons. The book collection of Stanisław Baczyński, Owruczarmorer, was a part of the Berdychiv library, donated on April 14, 1772. It is proved by the book of visits of the Berdychiv church and monastery of the year 1841, where documents concerning monastery funds and perpetual bonds are described. The documents are divided into five sets, the fourth one notices: “on April 14, 1772 Stanisław Baczyński donates a library to the monastery”¹². The entry “Ex Lib. Stan. Baczyński TOR C Lubl.”¹³ can be found on the books. In gratitude, the Carmelites obliged themselves to celebrate annually in May “an anniversary” – a memorial service for deceased parents and siblings of S. Baczyński, and also for his soul after his death.

The monastic library received also the book collection of unknown Paweł Orzechowski. The entry “Paweł Orzechowski” was found on the pages of approximately 40 books. On one of them probably his superexlibris was placed – “PO” initials stamped on upper facing¹⁴.

There are also ownership entries of priors and sub-priors of the Berdychiv monastery: father Augustyn of Saint Erasmus (Jan Dłuski, died 1767) – prior in the years 1742-1745¹⁵; father Sebastian of Ressurection – sub-prior in the years 1745-1748¹⁶; father Rafał of Saint Cornelius and Saint Cyprian (Michał Walenty Grey; died 1807) – sub-prior 1761-1763 and prior in the years 1790-1793¹⁷. An example could also be a copy of the third edition of Rhetorica Explicata Et Applicata Ad Eloquentiam Civilem Et Ecclesiasticam... (Bamberg, Würzburg 1772) by Hermann Goldhagen¹⁸, with a red wax seal on endpaper, with a badge of the Discalced Carmelites convent, which could belong to a monastery prior or a provincial. There are also the following entries at the title page of this work: “Ex Libris F[ratris] Dionisii a S[ancto] Joanne de Dukla Carmelite Excalceati 1784” and “Conventus Berdiczoviens[is] Carmelit[arum] Discal[ceatorum] Pr[ovinci]ae Polonae Sancti Spirit[us]”. Father Dionizy Ocholiński of Saint John of Dukla (1763-1830) at first was a lecturer of philosophy and theology in the seminary working in the Berdychiv convent. Later he fulfilled different offices: secretary of the province (1800), diocese examiner (1801-1802), definator (1801-1805, 1806-1808), provincial of the Ruthenian province of the Holy Spirit (1811-1814)¹⁹ – Berdychiv was at the time residence of the Ruthenian province of the Discalced Carmelites – and a prior of the convent in Wiśniowiec (since 1817).

On the other hand, an example of extended ownership entry can be the note on the copy of Sacrorum Bibliorum Vulgatae Editionis Concordantiae... (Köln 1684²⁰), written by Aleksander Koziczkowski, pantler of Liw, dated on 1795 and addressed to book recipient, prior of Berdychiv convent father Clementyn of Mother of God from Carmel Mountain – Józef Zaleski (died 1810):

Hic Liber S[acro]rum Biblior[um] Concordantiae / donat[us] est Re[vere]ndissimo Patri Clementino Zaleski / Priori Con[ven]t[us] Berdiczoviensis Carmelitarum Discal[ceatorum] a Meo D[omi]no Alexandro Felici Ko[zi]czkowski Dapifero Livoniae Capit[aneo] / Exer- citum R[eg]ni [Polo]niae A[n]no 1795 Mensis 30 Julij.

Father Clementyn served as a convent prior in the years 1796-1801, and in the years 1806-1808 he was provincial of the Ruthenian province of the Holy Spirit, seated in Berdychiv²¹.

Interesting are also entries in the books of father Hubert of Virgin Mary Visit, including information about his will to pass them to the Berdychiv monastery after his death. These entries can be found on title pages of 8 volumes. The copy of Jaime de Corelli Praxis Confessionalis... (Augsburg 1757)²² has an entry: “P[atri] Fr[at]ris Huberti / a Visit[atione] B[eatissimae] V[irginis] Mariae / Carmelite Discalceati / applicatur Conventui in quo morior et Oretur pro A[nim]a mea”. On the title page of another print Dictionarium casuum conscientiae... by François Morenas and Eusebius Amort (Augsburg 1762)²³ there is an entry: “P[atri] F[rat]ris Huberti a Visit[atione] Beatissimae V[irginis] Mariae / Carmelite Excalceati, post mortem applico Conventui / Berdiczoviensi et peto Lectorem S[ancti] Orationes”. What is known about father Hubert, that in the years 1766-1777 he was the convent examiner, and in 1777, on behalf of the chapter, he signed employment conditions for the pharmacist Marcinkiewicz in the monastery pharmacy²⁴.

A significant number of early printed books include ownership entries indicating their origin from other Carmelite convents. On the endpapers of five out of seven volumes of Tractatus Theologici... (Wenecja 1738) by Charles Witasse, which were moved to Berdychiv from the Discalced Carmelites library in Przemyśl, there is an entry informing about its purchase:

Hic liber emptus est ab Adm[odo] R[evere]ndo N[ostr]o Patre / Cherubino / ab Assumptione B[eatissimae] V[irginis] M[ariae] Exprovinciali / sub id temporis Priore Conventus Premisiensis / Carmelitarum Discalceatorum / Sumptibus ejusdem Conventus / Anno D[omi]ni 1780.

Nine volumes of the Würzburg edition of Summa..., Sive Cursus Theologiae... (Würzburg 1767)²⁵ by Saint Thomas Aquinas includes also entries confirming their Przemyśl origin, like the one on the endpaper of volume seven:

Pro Bibliotheca Collegii Premis[liensi] Carmelit[arum] Discal[ceatorum] / Comparat[us] ad usum / Fr[atum] Studentium Ejusdem Collegii / Opera et Studio A[dmodo] R[everendo] N[ostri] P[atre] Constantini a B[eatissimae] Kunegundae / protunc Collegii Prioris Premisl[lii] / modo vero Definitoris 3-ii actualis.

The Discalced Carmelites monastery together with the church of Saint Theresa in Przemyśl was funded by Podolian governor Marcin Krasicki (1574-1631) in 1625 and finished 5 years later. It belonged to the Polish province of the Holy Spirit. By decrees of the Austrian Emperor Joseph II, it was closed in 1784, and given to the Greek Catholics, serving as cathedra of Greek Catholic eparchy of Przemyśl. Books from this convent could have been transferred to Berdychiv after its closing.

Among exlibrises one can select those of the year 1595, with a printed text informing about belongingness of the works to the Jesuits college in München²⁶. Interesting is also the exlibris of priest Antoni Borna, Franciscan of Observance, chaplain of princes Radziwiłł, with a text: "Z Xiąg Xdza Antoniego Borny / Z. S. Fr. Obserwantow Kapelana / XX. Radziwiłłow WW. TT."²⁷, and exlibris of the Kyiv and Czernichów bishop Józef Andrzej Załuski (1702-1774), with the text: "I.A. ZAŁUSKI"²⁸. The books with the latter exlibris were probably purchased at auctions of duplicates from the Załuski Library, which had been organized in Warsaw since 1761, or they were donated by the bishop to a prior or the Berdychiv monastery. Five publications with J.A. Załuski exlibris can be found in this book collection.

Heraldic exlibrises can be found on the endpaper of two early printed books – the first one belonged to Konstanty Ludwik Plater (1722-1778)²⁹, scribe of Grand Duchy of Lithuania, and the other to an unidentified person, and its text has not been preserved.

A small group of provenance signs in the studied collection consists of superelexibris. The ownership mark from the 17th century is worth noting, belonging to princes Wiśniowiecki, with their coat of arms Korybut. Books with such an exlibris were in the castle library of Wiśniowiecki family, established by great Lithuanian hetman Michał Serwacy Wiśniowiecki (1680-1744), benefactor of the Carmelites monastery in Wiśniowiec (Krzemieniec county, Wołyń region). The sign of prices Wiśniowieski has been discussed in book studies, among others in the works of Vincas Kisarauskas³⁰, Edmundas Laucevicius³¹ and I. Ciborowska-Rymarowicz³². At least the early printed book from the Berdychiv collection – the work of Hegesippus De Bello Ivdaico, Et Vrbis Hierosolymitanæ excidio libri quinq[ue]... (Köln 1575)³³, except the Wiśniowiecki family exlibris, was market on the title page also with two ownership entries. The first one proves that earlier, in 1772, the book was donated to the monastery in Wiśniowiec by Stanisław Jerzy Mniszech (1745-1806), the Crown ensign:

Pro Bibliotheca Conventus Visnivecensis Carmelitarum Discalceatorum Ex donatione Illustrissimi Magnifici Domini Stanislai Mniszech Succamerande M[agni] D[ucatis] Lith[uanii]. Fundatoris N[ost]ri Munificentissimi A[nno] D[omi]ni 1772-do. Oret[ur] pro Eo.

and the other confirms books belongingness to the monastery library: “Conventus Visnivecensis Carmelitarum Discalceatorum”.

In due time Mniszech aimed to join clerical state, however finally he resigned. Books he donated to the monastery may come from this period, when he was going to sacrifice his life to God and the Church.

There is one more ownership mark in the Berdychiv monastery library, related to the Wiśniowiecki castle library – well-known heraldic exlibris of Michał Jerzy Wandalin Mniszech (1742-1806), Grand Marshall of the Crown³⁴. It is a copperplate from after 1780 when the bibliophile was awarded the Saint Andrew the Apostle Order. This Order is presented on this ownership mark together with received earlier orders of Saint Stanislaus? and of the White Eagle. Moreover, the exlibris presents the eagle keeping in talons irregular cartouche with the Kończy coat of arms of the Mniszech family, and a text “Ex Libris Mich. Comitis Vandalini Mniszech”. This mark was placed on two volumes of the Aleksander Gordon work La Vie Du Pape Alexandre VI Et De Son Fils Cesar Borgia (Amsterdam 1751)³⁵.

Both volumes went to the Berdychiv library probably together with other books from the Discalced Carmelites Monastery in Wiśniowiec. This monastery, together with the church of Saint Anna, was funded by prince Jeremi Wiśniowiecki (1612-1651), the Russian governor. Destroyed by the Turks in 1673, it was rebuilt together with the new church of Saint Michael Archangel by prince Michał Serwacy Wiśniowiecki (1680-1744), hetman of the Great Duchy of Lithuania. It was secularised in 1832 by tsarist authorities, and the monks were transferred to the Berdychiv monastery. Besides the volumes mentioned above, another book from Wiśniowiec came to Berdychiv library probably at that time – the 6 volumes edition of Antonio Maria Boranga Institutiones Theologico Dogmatico Canonico Historico Morales... (Venice 1766)³⁶ with the entry of title pages of the volumes: “Hic Author emptus est sub Prioratu / A[dmodo] R[everendo] P[atre] N[ostr]i / Raphaelis a SS. / Cornelio et Cypriano / pro C[onven]tu Visniovencensi / Carmelit[arum] Discalceatorum / Anno D[omi]ni 1774”. The same was with the 3 volume edition of the Dominican Pietro Maria Gazzaniga Praelectiones theologicae de Deo Uno, et Trino... (Venice, 1770)³⁷, in which the following entry can be found on a title page of volume 2: “Hoc opus Authore Gazzaga Emptum est sub Prioratu / A[dmodo] R[everendo] P[atri] N[ostr]i Innocentij a S. Thoma pro Bibliotheca / Conventus Visniovencensis / Carmelitarum Discalceatorum. / Anno D[omi]ni 1778”.

The copy of Indices Omnes In D. Thomae Symmam Theologicam hactenus impressi... (Rome 1619)³⁸ comes from another monastery library, of the Lviv Discalced Carmelites, as proved by the superexlibris of this monastery. There is the Discalced Carmelites emblem on the upper linen of the book – the Carmel Mountain with a cross surrounded by stars; in upper part of cartouche prophet Elias' hand, the convent patron, with a fiery sword; the convent motto on a band: “Zelo zelatus sum pro Domino Deo exercituum”, and monastery name aside: CO[NVENTUS] LE[OPOLIENSIS] SA[NCTI] MI[CHAELOS] C[ARMELITARUM] D[ISCALCEATORUM]. There is also the entry on a title page, confirming that the book belonged to the Lviv Discalced Carmelites. The wooden Carmelite monastery and church of Saint Michael Archangel in Lviv were funded in 1613 by Jan Ładochowski (died 1622), castellan of Wołyń³⁹. In 1642 the monks moved to a new, brick monastery funded by prince Aleksander from Ostróg Zasławski, Elżbiętę Jaćmierską from Mstyczów and Aleksander Kuropatwa; the construction was finished in 1645. In 1781 the monastery was secularised, in 1784 taken over by the Reformates, and after their secularisation in 1789 given to the Carmelites⁴⁰. According to F. Radziszewski, the library of Lviv Discalced Carmelites consisted of up to 4000 printed works (in 6342 volumes) and 368 manuscripts⁴¹.

Among early printed books from the Berdychiv library, 9 volumes⁴² with the superexlibris of the Discalced Carmelites Monastery in Głębokie were identified, placed in the upper part of a spine of a leather binding⁴³. The mark, beside the convent badge, includes an abbreviation of monastery name: C[ONVENTUS] G[LEMBOCENSIS] C[ARMELITARUM] D[ISCALCEATORUM]. On spines of bindings of these books there are also stamps of different letters of Latin alphabet, which could have meant thematic sections, and a unified date in Roman numbers - "MDCCCLVIII". This is probably the year where bindings were made. On title pages of these books, there are also entries: "Conventus Glembocensis Carmelitarum Discalceatorum". The monastery in Głębokie, together with the church of the Assumption of Virgin Mary, was founded in 1639 by Józef Korsak (died 1643) Mścisław governor⁴⁴. The library of the monastery in Głębokie amounted in 1796 to 882, in 1830 – 2621⁴⁵, in 1834 – 2051 units⁴⁶. After its secularisation in 1842, the collection was moved to Vilnius. The rest of the library reached this city in 1864 when the Carmelites were finally forced to leave their monastery⁴⁷. A part of the printings of the Carmelites from Głębokie might have been transferred to Berdychiv just from Vilnius. Currently, early printed books from their collection are dispersed, and can be found in several locations: in the University Library in Vilnius (Vilniaus universiteto biblioteka), the National Library of Belarus, the National Museum of the Arts of the Belarus Republic, and in the VNLU⁴⁸.

The selection of provenance material presented above proves that the library of the Discalced Carmelites Monastery in Berdychiv is an important monument of culture and history, as the largest historical monastery library preserved in Ukraine. Further studies should be aimed at developing a scientific catalogue of this collection, regarding essential, and sometimes the only available evidence in provenance entries and marks placed on pages and bindings of particular volumes. Analysis of these provenances and the library content will allow presenting its history, as well as the history of the community in which it had been gathered and used.
